

NACS Travel Award ($500)

The NACS travel award can be used to attend a conference when the student is presenting. Students can receive this supplement once during their graduate studies. The NACS travel award cannot be combined with the NACS Conference Supplement or a Goldhaber Award from the Graduate School.

Students should apply for funding two months ahead of anticipated travel. If not applying within that time frame, students should explain why they could not meet this deadline, and may risk not receiving travel support funds.
